Global Dental Market is expected to more than US$ 60 Billion industry by 2024. Patient demand for better dental care facilities has increased due to increasing dental awareness and growing disposable income of the people around the world. Furthermore, factors like rising geriatric population, changing lifestyles, increasing incidences of dental caries and other periodontal diseases, rising demand for cosmetic dentistry, and increased public and private health care expenditure are persistently driving the dental care market.

In 2017, Dental Equipment segment accounted for the maximum share among all other segments viz. Preventive, Restoratives, Prosthetics, Implants, Orthodontics and Endodontic studied in the report.

The growing adoption of advanced technology and equipment in the diagnosis and treatment procedures to ensure that each patient should get quality dental care services positively impacted this market segment to flourish now and then.

The global dental equipment market size was valued at USD 6.08 billion in 2013 and is projected to grow at a CAGR 4.9% during the forecast period. The market growth can be attributed to key factors such as rising demand for dental procedures, increasing prevalence of dental disorders, and rise in medical tourism activities pertaining to these procedures. Furthermore, rising geriatric population and their demand for preventive, restorative and surgical services for dental care is likely to boost the market growth in the coming years.

Favorable government initiatives pertaining to dental hygiene is another factor propelling the growth of the market. In the recent years, governments of many countries are initiating reforms for development of dental health of their country.

For instance, in the Australian 2016-17 Budget was framed to deliver a reform through a Single National Child and Adult Public Dental Scheme and allocated nearly USD 1.29 billion (AUD 1.7 billion) towards public services for dental care. Furthermore, according to Germany's healthcare policies 87.5% of its total population is a member of "sick funds" - a not-for-profit organization. It provides free basic dental services accompanied with several advanced options such as orthodontics, and crowns and bridges.

“Austria’s capital offers a unique blend of imperial traditions and stunning architecture. Famous for its many cultural events, classical concerts, imperial architecture, coffee houses, cozy wine taverns, and the very special Viennese charm”

Vienna’s history dates back to the first post-Christian century when the Romans established the military camp Vindobona. Today’s cityscape is characterized by the abundance of baroque buildings created mostly under the rule of Empress Maria Theresia and Emperor Franz Joseph who was largely responsible for the monumental architecture round the Ringstraße.

Schloss Schönbrunn, the former imperial summer residence, is one of the most popular sights. The imposing palace with the beautifully tended formal gardens, the Gloriette monument, the Palm House, and the zoo attract a great number of visitors each year. The vast Hofburg was once the home of the Habsburg family for over six centuries, and is an impressive repository of culture and heritage.

Today the splendid baroque Belvedere Palace houses the Österreichische Galerie displaying the largest collection of works by Gustav Klimt and Oskar Kokoschka as well as famous paintings by Egon Schiele. Vienna’s prime landmarks are the gothic St. Stephen’s Cathedral, the Giant Ferris Wheel in the Prater, Vienna’s old recreational park, and the Spanish Riding School with their world-famous Lipizzaner horses.

Vienna has more museums and galleries of international reputation than you can shake a stick at: Kunsthistorisches Museum Vienna with the world’s largest collection of Bruegel paintings, MuseumsQuartier with Leopold Museum, Museum Moderner Kunst, Architekturzentrum and Kunsthalle rank among the city’s most important cultural venues. The Albertina is home to the world’s largest collection of graphic arts and prints.

Vienna owes much of its international fame to the many celebrated composers who lived and worked here including Strauß, Mozart, Beethoven and Haydn. The Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra is one of the world’s best, the Staatsoper one of the world’s leading opera houses, the Vienna Boys’ Choir one the world’s most famous. In the last years Vienna has also established itself as a great musical metropolis.

In Vienna, old coffee houses and rustic wine taverns stand alongside with top restaurants and shops, time-honored events alternate with internationally-acclaimed extravaganzas to create a unique and very special ambiance. Another special feature of Vienna is its many green spaces and recreational areas such as the Wienerwald, the Prater and the Donauinsel.

Austria's Climate:

Is generally moderate and mild and reliably follows the four distinct seasons. Average summer temperatures range from 20°C to 30°C, the average winter temperatures are around 0°.

Vienna - A Romantically Imperial City:

Vienna is a dream city for anyone with a romantic streak or an interest in history. Sightseeing opportunities are to be found in abundance. Wander along narrow, medieval alleyways or across imperial squares

Currency: Euros (€)

Transport within Austria:

Train: Public transport system in Austria is excellent. Austria's rail network is comfortable, reliable and fast. The main rail website offers excellent information on timetables, services and discounts. The quality of service offered by the rail network makes it far more appealing than bus links.

Vienna boasts several major train stations. Most people will arrive either at the Southern or the Western main train stations which are well-connected with the rest of the city.

Cities such as Bratislava, Budapest, Prague, Munich, Venice are all regularly served from the city's main stations. For the more adventurous there is also the possibility to travel further a field to destinations such as Warsaw, Berlin, Kiev etc.

Air links: All of Austria's major cities including Linz, Salzburg, Innsbruck, Graz and Klagenfurt and Vienna have their own international airports. Austrian Airlines, Austria's national carrier, serves all of the above cities and connects Austria with many international destinations. There are now a range of low cost carriers which connect Vienna, Linz and Bratislava to a number of European destinations.

Public Transport: Vienna features an impressive public transport system. the subway, trams and buses assure reliable and clean transportation. The underground/subway system is particularly easy to navigate. At night, there exists a network of night buses, a cheaper alternative to taking a taxi. All of these transport options are available at very reasonable prices ranging from Euro 1.80 for a single Journey, Euro 14.00 for a weekly card and Euro 49.50 for a monthly ticket.

Cycling: Much of Vienna encourages cyclists through designated cycle lanes. Since 2002 the city has even offered public bicycles 'Stadtrad' in central districts. Tourists and locals use them for short distances. They are free save apart from a small deposit.

There are many beautifully tended cycling routes throughout the country esp. along the Danube River.

Getting There:

Vienna Schwechat is Austria's main airport, but you can also fly to Linz, Salzburg, Innsbruck, Klagenfurt or Graz. Austrian Airlines (AUA), is a holding company that includes Lauda Air and Tyrolean Airlines as well, flies to numerous international destinations. Find out about cheap flights to Vienna.

The Austrian rail network is comfortable, modern and reliable. International bus connections are cheaper but also slower and less comfortable.

The network of streets and highways is excellent and well maintained. You can cross the border 24 hours a day at major crossing points.
